

Summary

Role of teaching materials in schoolers independent work activation

Specialists preparation necessity in professional education establishment is being outlined in the article, considering specialists' will for various media means usage while seeking for specific knowledge. Development of one's self-managed studying process is being the main goal in student's independent work. Term of "self-management studying process activation" is being described. Requirements towards different kinds of training materials – activation of studying means used as working process tool managed by students themselves are being considered.

Keywords: independent work, activation of independent work, administrative function trained, teaching materials on a printed basis, audiovisual teaching materials, electronic teaching materials, personal orientation of teaching materials.

Osadchuk Olga Leonidovna – Candidat of Pedagogics, senior lecturer at Professional Pedagogics, Psychology and Management Department of Omsk State Pedagogical University, Omsk, Omsk region.

Reflection as a main student's distance learning component during foreign language studying

This article represents questions related to distant learning course development. It points out that reflection should be considered as an essential component of any distant learning course. The forms and functions of reflection in distance learning are being considered. Ways of learning through reflection are being provided.

Keywords: distance learning, reflection, reflective competence.

Mosina Margarita Alexandrovna – Candidate of Pedagogics, senior lecturer at Department of Applied Linguistics and Information Technologies of Perm State Technical University, Perm, Perm region.

Primary schoolchildren functional literacy: problems and perspectives of forming

Pedagogical and psychological approaches towards pedagogical theory and educational practice in functional literacy formation problem research, as well as outlined main aspects and possible junior schoolchildren functional literacy formation requests are being analyzed.

Keywords: functional literacy, study skills, key competence, universal educational actions, educational technologies, primary school teacher technological competence.

Gubanova Margarita Ivanovna – Doctor of Pedagogics, Professor at Interuniversity Department of General and High School Pedagogics, Kemerovo State University;

Lebedeva Elena Pavlovna – post-graduate student of Psychological and Socially-Pedagogical support of General and Special (Correctional) formation Department of Kuzbass Regional Institute of Professional Skill Improvement and Education employee Retraining, adviser of Educational system "School 2100", "Scientific-Methodic centre", Kemerovo, Kuzbass region.

Teacher and schooler's communication as a mean of emotional sympathy development

Experience of emotional empathy upbringing among schoolchildren is being presented in the article. Psychologically competent, communication directed towards a person assuming polymodal speech, reflective dialogue, function lessons change from formative to collective search for knowledge reasons, are helping the development of emotional sympathy mechanisms. Special exercises are being offered, setting schoolers towards success and fear and lack of self-confidence overcome.

Keywords: emotional sympathy, empathy, social perception, projection, identification, decentralization, humanistic direction of a person, communication, polymodal speech, reflexive dialogue.

Kurnosova Svetlana Anatolyevna – Candidate of Pedagogics, Assistant Professor at Pedagogics Department of Kamchatka State University, Petropavlovsk-Kamchatskiy;

Leytan Tatiana Vladlenovna – Russian language, literature and ethics teacher at municipal educational establishment primary school № 40, Petropavlovsk-Kamchatskiy, region Kamchatka.

Methodical activity of primary school teacher

In given article the essence of "methodical activity" conception is being determined, stages of methodical activity are being substantiated for modern specialists to command through the developing of education model point of view.

Keywords: methodical activity, stages of methodical activity, primary school teacher.

Zueva Tatyana Petrovna – teacher of Technological disciplines of School Department, Chelyabinsk State Pedagogical college № 1, Chelyabinsk, Magnitogorsk region.

Game as a factor of creative development of participants of educational process

The article examines upon game's major function – development of individual creative abilities and gives practical recommendations to the teacher on how to organize game activities during studying process.

Keywords: phylosophical-cultural base of the game, creative development of a person, organization of game activity.

Polyakova Tatiana Nikolaevna – Candidate of Pedagogics, senior lecturer at Social-Humanities Education Department, Saint-Petersburg Academy of Postdiploma Pedagogical Education, Saint-Petersburg.